

International Junior Conference entitled Where is the World is Heading 2021

On June 10, we invite school children and youth to participate in the International Junior Conference entitled Where the World is Heading, with respect to ocean and climate change. We are open to submissions of an arbitrary form: multimedia presentation, poster, PPT presentation, mock-ups, etc. The participants' projects will be available on the Padlet platform and will be assessed by the Scientific Committee.

Additionally, participants will be able to present their project in the form of a 3-minute oral presentation (not obligatory). These mini lectures will be preceded by an invited guest, a respected scientist. The day ends with announcing the results for the best presentations and honoring the winners with prizes and diplomas.

The award committee evaluation criteria are as follows:

- Innovative approach to the subject.
- Content.
- Form of presentation.
- Presentation of the topic and the ability to convey your theses.
